

Hosanna Highlights

December 2017

Grace to you and peace.

The church is to be on mission with God. The God of the Bible is a missionary God who graciously pursues people. Here at Hosanna, we have 5 purpose areas which focus our attention on God's missionary work in the world. As we live these purposes into being we are living our calling as the CHURCH.

The church exists to proclaim the gospel and demonstrate the kingdom of God in a lost and sometimes painful world. In being faithful to her calling, the church should be reaching people with the good news of the gospel and welcoming them in to a local community of believers.

Welcoming people into the local church should be the natural overflow of a local church's faithful ministry. The best way to welcome people is simply a one-to-one invitation.

- 67% of Americans say a personal invitation from a family member would be very or somewhat effective in getting them to visit a church.
- 63% of Americans say a personal invitation from a friend or neighbor would be very or somewhat effective in getting them to visit a church.
- 63% of Americans are very or somewhat willing to receive information about a local congregation or faith community from a family member.
- 56% of Americans are very or somewhat willing to receive information about a local congregation or faith community from a friend or neighbor.

So, people ARE open to an invite from church, particularly if it is from someone they know. But one simple invitation isn't necessarily going to result in subsequent attendance. Neighbors may come because of an invitation, but they'll stay for the community.

Why is it that many of our un-churched friends are ready for an invitation to church? Several missiologists have recently offered a similar observation. In our post-Christian nation, people who are skeptical of the faith are often attracted to the Christian community before they are attracted to the Christian message. Therefore, introducing people into the relational network of a local church community becomes an important aspect of their journey to the faith.

As beings created in the image of God, we need to be in relationship with others. We reflect God, who is Trinitarian, with the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit in perfect fellowship with one another. This necessitates our innate need for community.

The personal invitation is an effective way to break down any real or perceived barriers one might have to walking into a new church building or being willing to engage in a new circle of people. Knowing whose image each of us bear, we cannot afford to underestimate the power of a personal invitation.

In our world people are more connected than any previous generation, yet lonelier than ever before. Social media may allow us to keep up with other people, but invitations to join communities or relational circles are the only way for people to truly connect with others.

We cannot mistake information for intimacy. We cannot mistake communication for community. Virtual relationships are not complete. To put it another way, fellowship is not truly experienced apart from actual relationships in physical time and space. Unfortunately, Western culture is inherently individualistic. We honor the person who goes their own way and values self-reliance. This pattern has resulted in an individualistic spirituality that has fragmented the church and erected barriers for people connecting in churches.

Far too often, individualism not only becomes the silent killer of community within the body of Christ, but also the hindrance to seeing growth in our churches.

This begs the question: how can people be added to the local church (which involves conversation and covenant) unless they experience fellowship and community with that church? And how can they experience fellowship and community in a local church unless someone invites them? If many of our un-churched friends are ready for an invitation to church, what are we waiting on?

In his book Evangelism in the Early Church, historian Michael Green argued that evangelism was the prerogative and duty of every church member. Green argues that "Christianity was supremely a lay movement, spread by informal missionaries ... the spontaneous outreach of the total Christian community gave immense impetus to the movement from the very outset."

In our (and similar) cultural contexts, that spontaneous outreach often involves engaging people in community, leading to gospel engagement.

The experience of true gospel community, true fellowship, is a powerful thing. Remember, simply introducing people into the relational network of a local church community can be an important aspect of their journey to the faith.

'Tis the season of Christmas. This is a perfect opportunity to invite your friends and neighbors to join you in worship or fellowship at Hosanna. Wednesday night services, Sunday morning worship, Sunday night Youth Night, or the many small group activities are all great times to bring a friend. Introduce them to Hosanna, and help them experience Jesus in this community.

See you soon,

Pastor Jay

- small bags of mint or lemon candies
- cozy socks
- unscented lip balm
- unscented lotion
- Journals
- scarves
- books (puzzle, coloring, or word search)
- fleece blankets (approx. 40" X 60")

A container will be placed in the Welcome Area to receive these items from January 1st-February 3rd, 2018. Thank you for sharing in this important ministry to our community.

Donations to purchase these items will be accepted as well, just note "Chemo Bag Project" on your check to Hosanna. Thank you for continuing to support this ministry in our community.

The quilters donated several yards of beautiful challis fabric that is too thin for sewing into bags, but will make great scarves to put in the bags. There will be cutting, pressing, sewing, and thread pulling stations for you to choose from. I have estimated that we should be able to make 30 scarves or more. Beginning in January there will be a sign up sheet at the Info Center.

Youth and Family Ministries

Advent is my favorite season! I love the watching, waiting, and preparing for our Savior's birth. For me, love is always in the details. This year is very special because it is my first Advent with my Hosanna family. I am so excited to share some of my favorite traditions and faith practices with my faith family. Available for all Hosanna families, at the Info Center, is a booklet titled, "What is Advent?" The booklet contains a Definition, Faith Practices, Prayers, and Readings for the Advent season. For our families with children, an Advent Calendar with a picture of the nativity is offered. Each calendar has a daily scripture verse which the family can add to their faith practice routine. Additional faith practice ideas will be offered at our Faith Practice Workshops on November 12th after both services. All participants will learn the symbolism of the Advent wreath and candles. Each family will take a wreath home to celebrate the season in their home. This is a wonderful opportunity to invite a friend and share the love of the season. Be a friend and Bring a friend!

As we continue to prepare and wait for our Savior's birth, I enjoy planning and putting love into all that we do!

GLYASDI,

Deacon Emily
